

Links can be added using a description for a website or URL followed by the website itself. Both of these have to be given inside dashes and followed by an underline

Example: Link to cfd.university

Images are provided using the image environment and are similar to how we added equations and code. We can, again, provide additional information such as the width of the image and the alternative description (used for screen readers). An example is given below:

