

We can highlight text in bold or italics, and even ~~strike-through~~ text. We can also use superscripts such as H₂O and superscripts such as E=mc².

A new paragraph is created by simply adding an empty line between two paragraphs. You can also add a separating horizontal line if you want using three dashes:

You may want to quote some text in your documentation. Use the right arrow symbol on a new line to achieve that. We can use that together with footnotes^[1] to link back to the original source.

Import quote to highlight.

1. Quote of an important person. ↩
